

Working with Hundreds, Tens, and Ones

What is each number?

1.

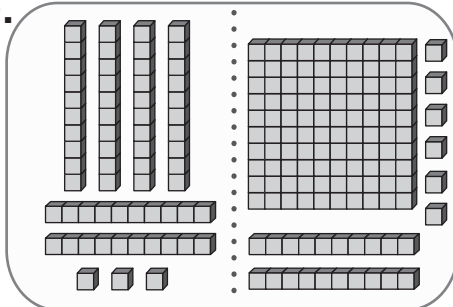

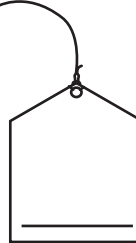

The diagram shows 3 tens rods and 1 one unit on the left, and 3 tens rods and 1 one unit on the right of a vertical dotted line.

2.

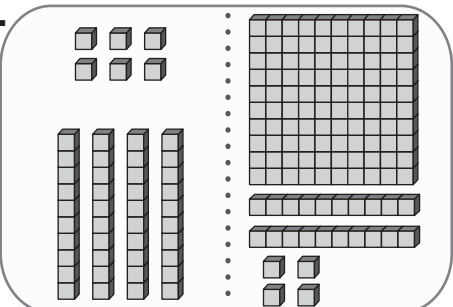

The diagram shows 1 hundred flat, 4 tens rods, and 5 one units on the left, and 1 ten rod and 5 one units on the right of a vertical dotted line.

3.

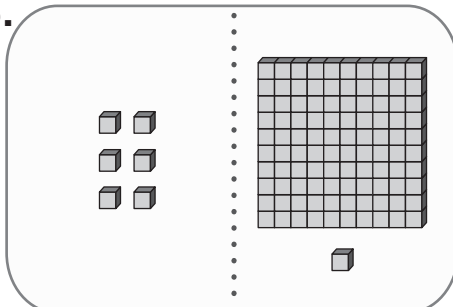

The diagram shows 1 ten rod and 8 one units on the left, and 1 hundred flat on the right of a vertical dotted line.

4.

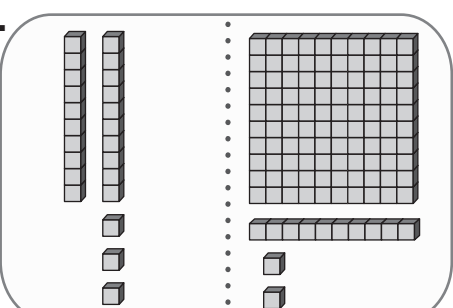

The diagram shows 4 tens rods and 3 one units on the left, and 4 hundreds flats, 4 tens rods, and 3 one units on the right of a vertical dotted line.

5.

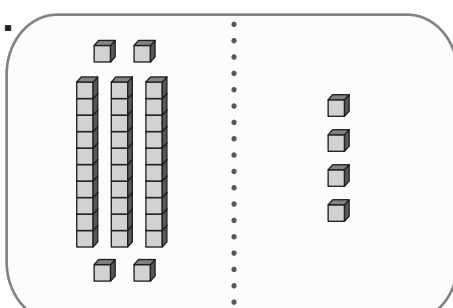

The diagram shows 3 tens rods and 8 one units on the left, and 3 hundreds flats, 4 tens rods, and 8 one units on the right of a vertical dotted line.

6.

The diagram shows 1 hundred flat and 5 one units on the left, and 1 hundred flat and 5 one units on the right of a vertical dotted line.

7.

The diagram shows 2 tens rods and 1 one unit on the left, and 2 hundreds flats and 1 ten rod on the right of a vertical dotted line.

8.

The diagram shows 3 tens rods and 5 one units on the left, and 5 one units on the right of a vertical dotted line.